Upper House Studying Measure
Agreeable to President; Veterans United

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(UP)—Overwhelming support swept the $3,500,000,000 United Front cash bonus bill to House passage today, just one week after convening of the second session of the 74th congress.

The vote was: yes, 355; no, 58. The measure now goes to the Senate where bonus leaders are racing with neutrality advocates in an effort to bring the issue to a vote before the end of next week. If President Roosevelt vetoes the bill, repassage over the veto is expected by bonus adherents.

Amendment Beaten

The final vote came after supporters of the bill, which is intended to settle finally the bonus issue after 17 years of congressional strife, beat down efforts of tall, silver-haired Rep. Allen T. Treadway, R., Mass., to provide payment of the bonus from unexpended or unallocated emergency-relief appropriations.

Republicans and Democrats united as the Vinson-Patman-McCormack bill was shoved along to passage.

It was untouched and unchanged by amendments.

The bill carries an authorization for full and immediate cash payment of veterans' certificates. It does not specify how the money shall be raised to pay them. Proponents say the bill will require only $1,000,000,000 in additional cash outlay.

Patman Has Role

Inflationary forces took up the battle immediately to force payment through issuance of new currency against huge gold reserves now in the treasury. Rep. Wright Patman, D., Tex., one of the sponsors of the united front bill, is leading the currency expansion battle.

House leaders predicted there were sufficient votes to override a presidential veto if necessary. In the Senate, where the fight is closer, high leaders sought a new bill more likely of presidential signature.

Senate majority leader Joseph T. Robinson, D., Ark., and Sen. Pat Harrison, D., Miss., chairman of the finance committee, were re-

SIX MORE FACTORIES SUE FOR TAX RETURN

BOSTON, Jan. 10—(UP)—Six new suits filed in federal court today, increased to 50 the number of actions started by Massachusetts textile firms to recover processing taxes.

The 44 suits previously filed involved approximately $7,000,000. Amounts sought in the new suits could not be determined immediately. These actions were started by the Durfee Mills Co., Wigmore Manufacturing Co., Foster Spinning Co., Border City Manufacturing Co., Charlton Mills, and the Howard-Arthur mills.

Altogether some 70 actions are anticipated, seeking to recover a total of about $50,000,000.

Farm Leaders Converge on Capital to Discuss AAA

WALLACE CALLS ON FARMERS TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Secretary of Agriculture Tells

gram Possible

SURPLUSES PREDICTED

F. D. R.'s Appointee Declares
Emergency May Become
Equal to That of 1933

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today pointed a way toward replacement of the destroyed AAA through soil conservation and called upon farmers and the nation at large to bend their efforts toward solution of the problem.

Facing a hundred farm leaders summoned to the capital to aid in rebuilding the Roosevelt agriculture keystone, the secretary lashed "obstructionists" and indicated that the AAA solution may lie in production control through a soil conservation program.

Emergency Faced

Without an immediate control program, he said, the nation must expect a 16,000,000 bale cotton crop (as compared to the 10,500,000 bale quota) and a surplus of 30,000,000 bushels of cotton. The normal corn production is around 2,500,000,000 bushels.

Hint of future plans came as Wallace warned the farmers that they faced an emergency equal to that of 1933.

At the same time, he urged that any program they might agree on would take into consideration that "full protection to consumers" and "long time conservation" of our soil.

"I hope," he said, "that all programs proposed by this conference recognize both the welfare of the consumer and the long time conservation of our soil."

The Governor announced that the court would convene in the state house, as customary, and would then decide whether it should go to the state prison to permit Hauptmann to make a personal plea for clemency.

The governor has received a report from a New York handwriting expert tentatively connecting the author of a recent anonymous note, asserting that Hauptmann is innocent, with a J. J. Faulkner believed to have charged $2,980 to Lindbergh ransom bills a year before Hauptmann was arrested.

Hoffman received the note two weeks ago. Signed "J. J. Faulkner," it urged the Court of Pardons to grant Hauptmann clemency because, it said, he was innocent. The author hinted, without claiming a connection with the kidnapping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. He inferred that Hauptmann had purchased the ransom money as "hot" money. His letter, the letter said, was "money madness."

Supposedly working with Ellis Parker, detective who has interested himself in Hauptmann's case, Hoffman connected the note with J. J. Faulkner, who on May 1, 1933, turned in $2,980 worth of gold certificates to a New York bank. The signatures were similar.

House leaders today predicted the senate bill would meet much opposition.

HOUSE TO FIGHT ORDER TO OUST SLOT MACHINES

Former County Man Files Injunction Action Against Washington Officials

WASHINGTON C. H., Jan. 10—Dr. O. W. House of this city, formerly of Williamsport, has filed an injunction proceeding against City Manager Gilbert H. Sollars and Police Chief Jack Wolfe to prevent removal of the machines.

The officials charge the machines are gambling devises and Manager Sollars has ordered them removed. Today is the deadline for their removal.

Dr. House is owner of a string of ball slot machines.

Former Mayor George H. Worrell announced today that a few years ago he had been offered $700 for permission to operate slot machines.

Circleville and Pickaway co have been without slot machines for several years after action by Sheriff Charles Radcliff supported by Judge Joseph W. Adkins in decreeing their removal.

When they were not removed the sheriff and his deputies confiscated a number of them. They remain intact in a county jail cell.

It has been learned that Sheriff Radcliff was approached within the last week by a "representative" of a slot machine owner who asked his attitude on their return. The sheriff's response was a firm negative.

Chillicothe's new mayor, James E. Ford, has ordered all machines out of his city.

PENSION LEADER FORMS PARTY TO CONTEST IN WEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, originator of the Old Age revolving pension plan, today set in motion the formation of a third party in California.

Similar organizations may be formed in other states, especially if the leaders of the major parties refuse to include the Townsend plan in their presidential platforms.

Dr. Townsend placed Sheridan Downey, a seasoned political campaigner, in charge of the "Townsend party" in California. Downey was defeated for lieutenant governor on the Epic-Democratic ticket in 1934.

Coincident with his appointment as director of the Townsend party organization, Downey, a Sacramento lawyer, announced a state-wide "sign up campaign" for members of Townsend clubs in the state on Jan. 24.

He expected 600,000 Townsendites to participate.

SAVINGS, BANKING COMPANY ELECTS BARR AS CASHIER

Action on naming a fifth director of the Circleville Savings & Banking Co. to succeed George Gerhard, prominent Jackson-twp farmer and business man who died recently, has been temporarily delayed by stockholders, according to an announcement Friday morning from John C. Goeller, president of the board.

The four directors re-elected are Mr. Goeller, Charles Gerhard, Charles M. Miles and John S. Ritt. Mr. Ritt was re-elected vice president.

N. E. Reichelderfer, who had been cashier of the institution, was named executive vice president in charge of the bank. Orwell Barr was named cashier and Miss Kathryn Mead, assistant cashier.

FORD LEAVES, RETURNS

An auto, minus its owner, disappeared from a parking space on S. Court-st Thursday evening and shortly after police started a search, it returned.

Police believe an auto thief started away in the wrong car and brought it back when he learned his mistake.

BLAST SHATTERS TOWN HALL, FOUR KNOWN VICTIMS

Pendleton, Ind. Scene; Escaping Sewer Gas Blamed for Fatal Explosion

PENDLETON, Ind., Jan. 10—(UPI)—With four bodies recovered, police and firemen dug in the ruins of the Pendleton village hall today for additional victims of the explosion which destroyed the two-story brick building.

The explosion occurred last night just after the town started its first meeting of the year. Five members of the board and Garland Brookbank, the town marshal, were among those injured.

Escaping sewer gas in a cistern beneath the hall was believed responsible for the blast. Irvin Taylor, Pendleton toolmaker, was reported to have dropped his eyeglasses through a crack in the floor and in searching for them lighted a match. The explosion followed.

Trusty Among Victims

First victim identified was Frank Wapienik, a trusty from the state reformatory here, who was waiting to drive officials back to the reformatory. Another victim was identified tentatively as Taylor. The man who dropped his glasses. The others were believed to be transients who were given shelter for the night in the hall.

The building housed all departments of the village government, including police and fire departments. The fire engine was in flames when members of the volunteer department reached the scene.

Three fire companies and ambulances rushed here from Anderson, eight miles away. The injured were taken to an Anderson hospital. Among them were Frank Silvers, president of the board; William Longtoft, Fred Lunz, Arlie Hensley and George Calvert, all members of the board; J. N. Walker, village clerk, and Everett Bratton, a farmer.

RELIEF MEASURE READY FOR VOTE

State Senate Expected to Put Through Bill Friday

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—The Senate met today to put through a permanent poor relief bill which, leaders said probably will be the one that both houses will approve and send to the governor.

The Senate bill, thrashed out in joint caucus of Democratic and Republican members, will incorporate the desirable features of both the House measure which passed yesterday and the tentative Senate bill which had been in committee pending house action.

Senator Paul P. Yoder, majority floor leader, stressed the need for speedy action as many of the larger counties will have exhausted their poor relief funds and will be looking to the state for aid in the next few weeks.

Controversial points still to be ironed out are:

1. Shall distribution be made on the basis of actual need, or on the basis of a budgeted formula.

2. Shall the program be for six months or a year?

5. What shall the total amount of the relief appropriations be? Under the bill the county commissioners would be authorities in the handling of relief.

PRESENTED TO LIBRARY

The second edition of "The American Catholic Who's Who," the volume for 1936 and 1937, has received at the Public library.

This edition, the first to be owned by the library, has been thoroughly revised from the 1934 and 1935 publication, and enlarged by two thousand additional biographical sketches. While arranged in dictionary form, it is additionally useful through its system of indexes, including a complete geographical index, under state, city, and foreign residence of the notables listed. The register of the American Catholic Hierarchy and national organizations will prove useful.

The library is indebted to its good friend, Robert M. Anderson, of Guilford Road, for the gift of this volume, as well as for other evidences of his interest, which have been received from time to time.

TO DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

GENTLEMEN: I believe it is about time for the Pickaway-co Democratic organization to arise from its haunches, get to work, and show the large following of the "rooster" that an organization really exists. The time for "watching" what is going on is past. The time for activity is not just before an election, but the year around. The time for action is right now, unless you no longer care what happens in the county and in the nation. Pickaway-co has long been a Democratic stronghold. Every candidate who has opposed the party has done so against odds. Some have won, but many more have been defeated. Pickaway-co should, by all means, have sponsored a Jackson day banquet with the splendid address of the President to be the feature of the evening. Maybe the lack of activity is because the persons who should act are waiting for someone else to carry the burden. If this is true those individuals should step aside and make way for those who will go ahead. Appointment or election to a party committee does not mean the individual should stop working. That is the time to start working. I urge the county's able organizers and committee-men to get to work. And NOW ! ! !

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

DEAR SIRS: Are there any politics connected with two old elm stumps? Broad-minded autoists have urged the removal of the twin elms at South Bloomfield, in the center of Route 23, for years and no action has been taken. If you expect to remove them why not do it before we have more slippery weather and more deaths and accidents are caused by those two stumps. They lost their beauty long ago and have no historical value. County residents see no reason for them remaining in one of the busiest highways in the nation.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

One gets new reactions talking with people and observing conditions while traveling.

Take the brakeman on the train traveling from Arkansas and southern Missouri into St. Louis.

He's for Roosevelt and the AAA, and every one of the alphabets except relief. There, he believes, something else must be done. Young fellows are drawing relief money who oughtn't. He believes in large pensions for the aged—not the laughable kind provided in the present security bill. He even believes the Townsend plan might work—but he finds a niche to it. You couldn't force the recipient of the $200 a month to spend it, because there'd be no sure way of checking up. Some of them might bury the money. Thus, maybe there'd better be another pension plan.

As for Mr. Roosevelt—he's done his best (he said he made mistakes) and those who are trying to turn the people against him are doing so for a reason. Just ask workers and farmers, and if they know nothing will happen to them if they tell you how they're going to vote, they'll tell you they're for Mr. Roosevelt. And there'll have to be something again to regulate hours and wages—especially of women and children.

HOME TOWN PRAISE

Then there is this editorial, clipped from a paper in Little Rock, Ark., home town of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, majority leader in the senate. This editorial endorses the "bringing home the tration has been ruled unconstitutional by the highest tribunal of the land, the Supreme Court, and when that body has spoken there is nothing left to say. But there is something you can do. Retain your good business sense; concentrate on ways and means of making ends meet without assistance of a bounty; study your problems and how best to meet them. Many of you expressed grief because of the decision against the A. A. A., but the action only served to put you more on your own resources. You do not want, and neither do I, a situation again similar to that existing in 1930, 1931 and other such years. It is up to you to do your best.

TO SCHOOL GRADUATES

SPORTS FANS: Why not attend the high school basketball games and boost your team? Circleville has a good team and a good coach. It is your DUTY to boost your athletic teams whether they are good or bad, but Circleville does not seem to have the spirit that prevails at other schools. Last week at the Ashville-Circleville game the smaller town had a much larger percentage of its rooters present than did Circleville. This week the Tigers play Delaware. Plan to attend the game. Make your team feel more like playing.

MEMBERS OF COUNCIL

GENTLEMEN: Months ago you were asked to furnish a new auto for the police department to replace the worn out one now in use. The request was referred to a committee, and apparently forgotten. You expect quick and efficient work from the department and at the same time put on the brakes by refusing to give the officers an auto that will run properly. On several occasions it has refused to move. Fortunately, no calls were received at those times. Start the new administration off on the right foot, purchase a new car and have a radio installed in it for state patrol broadcasts.

CIRCUISTER

COUNTY SPORTSMEN

GENTLEMEN: The recent order sent to Missouri by the Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association for 300 rabbits for distribution in this county, should encourage sportsmen to purchase their 1936 hunting and fishing licenses from club members. The members turn all fees received into the club treasury for the purchase of game and fish for restocking purposes. The club's program deserves the support of every county resident.

GRANGERS: You deserve high praise for the manner in which your grange has progressed in the last year. I have been informed that a year ago at this time you were an organization of 16 persons, and during the year you have worked hard to raise your enrollment to 60. This is worthy of note, and I am sure you will be praised by your state organization and by other granges in the county.

With the new session of congress just around the corner and Senator Joe T. Robinson again due to play a leading part in the senate, the following editorial from the Baxter Bulletin at Mountain Home should be of interest to the senator's friends:

PROSPERITY

Last, but not least, we see on our journey a rebirth of another evidence of the old prosperity.

A group of furniture dealers boards the train—and takes possession of the train.

Aided by a girl or two, the men proceed to get gloriously drunk.

The stories they tell are not fit for ears of decent women, who, nevertheless, have to sit in the cars and be insulted.

And the porters, being servants have to serve these yelling men—their superiors—under a torrent of epithets.

At midnight, the weary porters, who must watch their step or be reported for insolence, have to put the yelling businessmen to bed, taking fond care of them.

The men have been free with their money and the railroads welcome their business. They merely are some of the better citizens on their way to a buyers' convention.

Several unescorted young women en route to school and a few elderly women, to whom railroads do not seem to cater, shivered in their seats.

Perhaps the railroads could manage to segregate all the drunk including their women friends in club cars, thus retaining the goodwill of both sides.

That is not fuisse praise, but a statement of fact which has been ruled unconstitutional by the highest tribunal of the land, the Supreme Court, and when that body has spoken there is nothing left to say. But there is something you can do. Retain your good business sense; concentrate on ways and means of making ends meet without assistance of a bounty; study your problems and how best to meet them. Many of you expressed grief because of the decision against the A. A. A., but the action only served to put you more on your own resources. You do not want, and neither do I, a situation again similar to that existing in 1930, 1931 and other such years. It is up to you to do your best.

MURDER UPSTAIRS

By ADAM BLISS

CHAPTER 41

AFTER WHAT Hemingway had done to Janet Bell, I had no compassion for him at all. He deserved all he got. If he had murdered Mr. Darren, his denunciation of Janet became clearer to me. Anything to divert suspicion from himself. Yet, why he should kill Delta who loved him—unless he was a killer type, unless she knew something about him and hadn't told—because she threatened to kill him. If Miss Cambridge had known that—

"And Mr. Hemingway knows something, and Mr. Withers, too, and Mrs. Starmont. If they didn't, why would they be acting as they are?" Why wouldn't they come out and be natural? They aren't natural. They're hiding something, all of them. You and Mrs. Upham and I are the only normal people in the house. Even Grace isn't herself. She's jumpy. When I came into the kitchen yesterday afternoon late, she jumped around as though she thought I was going to murder her."

Marcella Cambridge waylaid me as I was coming downstairs. There was nothing to do but to stop and talk with her. I knew what she had to say and I listened as patiently as I could. A good deal about missing school, the shame and disgrace that had been brought on the house.

In all her chatter there was an undercurrent of excitement. Miss Cambridge was taking the tragedies much as Lucy was taking them. So little had happened in both their lives that now they felt for the first time they were in the midst of things. They were enjoying the tragedies although neither of them would admit it.

Miss Cambridge's face was flushed. Her lips had a little color in them. Although it wasn't a holiday or Sunday, she had on her best new print dress.

Even with the confusion last night she must have put up her hair in curlers, because the gray locks were waved in the front. However, Miss Cambridge, even if the world was falling about her ears, wouldn't forget to put her hair up in curlers.

"Janet's been acting very strangely, Mrs. Penny." I pretended surprise. It is a funny thing that in the seven years Miss Cambridge has been my boarder we never have called each other anything but Miss Cambridge and Mrs. Penny. We are invariably rather formal with each other, even when we gossip.

"She's been staying in her room much," Miss Cambridge went on. "And she won't talk. I've tried to draw her out, to find out what's on her mind, but I can't get anywhere with her. She almost snubbed me a while ago, and I meant well, I assure you. I was trying to help the girl. She needn't have taken my sympathy for mere curiosity. She knows something about all this, Mrs. Penny. You mark my words, she knows something."

She did, I thought to myself. But Miss Cambridge, I was pleased to note, didn't know that Janet had been in Mr. Darren's room Monday night didn't know that Janet had

"It's best, Miss Cambridge." Yet, she wasn't as indignant as I had expected her to be. Lucy was the one who was angry, and I would have expected Lucy to be comical. Miss Cambridge had a smile on her lips. True, it was tinged with sarcasm, but it was a smile.

"What are you doing in the kitchen for knives, Mrs. Penny?" "We're asking, too."

"The police haven't returned the two carving knives, have they? How do you manage without them?" "We're managing," I answered, shortly, hoping to break away. But she was standing in front of me on the third floor front stairs, and I couldn't get past her.

"Confidentially, Mrs. Penny, who do you think committed these murders? You must have some idea."

Her voice was a whisper. "I see you talking to Lieutenant Larrabee constantly. Mrs. Upham says she's hardly had a word with you since that man has been in the house."

"I really don't know. I'm as much in the dark as you are."

Another smile from Miss Cambridge.

"Oh, I'm not in the dark, Mrs. Penny. Far from it. I've eyes and I ears—good ones." She expected me to ask her what she meant, and like a fool I did.

"You'd better tell Lieutenant Larrabee to ask Janet why, when she was in all the scissors and files in her room, she didn't say anything about a lady handled dagger she has hidden in her room. I tried to see him a while ago, but he was too busy to talk to me. Perhaps he was more influenced with a jade handled dagger in this house?" I protested.

Miss Cambridge didn't lie. She could be depended upon always to tell the truth, even if the truth were bitter. I was astonished. I didn't even know Janet owned a jade handled dagger.

"No? Well, I have seen it and at the present time it's stuck behind a picture in her room, that print of the Grand Canal, or it was half an hour ago."

"The rooms were thoroughly searched late last night, Miss Cambridge. If the dagger was there, the police would have found it." I couldn't believe it. Because I either was so shocked or so tired, I don't know which, I sat down on the top step, and stared at Marcella Cambridge.

"It's a nuisance to have to ask the police every time we want a knife," she continued. "I had to borrow some scissors from Sergeant Ross this morning to trim a raveling from my cuff. He made me do it in front of him and then demanded the scissors back, immediately."

"It's best, Miss Cambridge."

Yet, she wasn't as indignant as I had expected her to be. Lucy was the one who was angry, and I would have expected Lucy to be comical. Miss Cambridge had a smile on her lips. True, it was tinged with sarcasm, but it was a smile.

"What are you doing in the kitchen for knives, Mrs. Penny?"

LID COMES OFF LEAGUE SEASON TONIGHT AT CAC

Tigers Tangle With Delaware
Willis High; All County
Teams in Action

The lid comes off the Central Buckeye league cage season this evening at about 8:30 o'clock when the warriors representing Circleville high school and a fast Delaware team meet in the C. A. C. gymnasium. The Tigers will be decidedly crippled with neither Jenkins nor Styers expected to play.

Other games on tonight's schedule:

CBS League
Marysville vs. Bexley.
Grandview vs. Westerville.
County League
Pickaway at Muhlenberg.
New Holland at Saltcreek.
Walnut at Ashville.
Deer Creek at Washington.
Perry at Scioto.
Darby at Monroe.

Non-County
Jackson at Kingston.

The Tiger-Delaware game appears a toss-up with both schools having about the same strength on paper. The local crew has been weakened by illness of Styers and a foot infection suffered by Jenkins. Nelson is expected to move up to forward, Griffith will go to center, Henry and Friley will be at the guards.

Veterans on the Willis high crew include Whetsel at center, Moeller at forward, and Vergone at guard. Other members of the first team are Kissner at forward, and either Perry or Vandervort at the other guard.

Delaware has lost two games, falling before Columbus North and Marion Hardins, both mighty good teams.

The evening's festivities begin at 6:45 when the freshmen and eighth grade play. The reserve teams of the two schools meet immediately after the first preliminary.

Probable varsity lineups:
Tigers
Andrews f Moeller
Melson f Kissner
Griffith c Wetsel
Henry g Vergone
Friley g Vergone
Referee: Pearce, Ohio Wesleyan.

WATTS DECLINES POST AT TOLEDO UNIVERSITY

BEREA, Jan. 10.—(UP)—Ray Watts, athletic director and head football and basketball coach at Baldwin-Wallace college since 1928, today did an "about face" and announced he had rejected an offer to take over the athletic coaching reins at the University of Toledo and would remain here.

In his eight seasons at Baldwin-Wallace, Watts has never had a contract with the school. However, it was understood an agreement was reached whereby he would be retained for five years.

The trustees at Toledo selected Watts a week ago and although he did not sign a contract immediately it was generally believed the terms of the offer were satisfactory and that the former Oberlin college star would go to Toledo in time to take charge of spring practice.

After he considered the Toledo offer, Watts asked for a contract for more than one year, the original offer. It was not forthcoming and negotiations for his retention at Baldwin-Wallace were made.

"The Toledo offer was quite tempting," Watts said, "but I am very glad to remain at Baldwin-Wallace where I have so many friends."

Watts declined to discuss a reported salary increase. He said "a satisfactory arrangement" was made.

The coaching position at Toledo was vacated at the close of the past season by Jim Nicholson.

All-American Fullback Files Notice in Courthouse, Going First to Divorce Counter; Beedle, Tackle, Becomes Berserk

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Jan. 10.—(UP)—Two members of Stanford University's football team, victors in the Rose game Jan. 1, crashed newspaper columns today for entirely different reasons.

In Honolulu Bobby Grayson, Portland, Ore. youth whose work at fullback won him all-American mention two years, appeared at the city hall to file notice of intention to wed Christine Williams, Stanford co-ed whose home is in the Hawaiian capital.

Somewhat unfamiliar with his surroundings Grayson appeared first at the divorce clerk's counter to fill his notice.

The wedding will take place Jan. 18 with ten of his Stanford teammates in attendance. They are in Honolulu as members of Glenn (Pop) Warner's all-stars who will play two games against Hawaiian teams.

Under less happy conditions Dale Beedle, 20, right tackle, was under observation at Agnew's State hospital after running berserk on a Southern Pacific train on his way from Los Angeles to Palo Alto.

About This And That In Many Sports

Aiken Promoted?

Appointment of Jimmy Aiken, Canton McKinley mentor, as head coach of Akron university, isn't much of a promotion, in our way of thinking—At Canton, city of about 110,000, Aiken had things his own way—He received a large salary, probably higher than any other high school coach in the state—His football and basketball teams were outstanding, but the fact that Massillon defeated his grididers last fall might have spurred Aiken to take the college job—The mentor, grad of W. & J., has coached high school teams for 14 years in Washington, Pa., Findlay, Toledo Scott before going to Canton * * *

No Breaks Possible

We're wondering just when Coach Jack Landrum will receive a break—About every time his cagers go on the floor someone is in no physical condition to do his best—At Chillicothe Jenkins was not in uniform; against Ashville Styers watched the game, and tonight against Delaware both sterling cagers will be on the sidelines * * *

Reds Are Ramblers

BUSINESS CENSUS TO START SATURDAY IN COUNTY

WORKERS UNDER OATH AGAINST REVEALING DATA

Value of Obtaining Information Related By R. M. Clifford, Supervisor

Pickaway county's four business census enumerators, Howard Anderson, Rt. 1, Francis Tolbert, Atlanta, A. J. Ford and Willard Stonerock, both of Circleville will begin their work Saturday.

The group will present census forms to business houses and later help them fill out the necessary information, according to an announcement from R. M. Clifford, supervisor of the work in the 11th Congressional district.

Information Secret ..

Mr. Clifford stressed the fact that information given to enumerators will be held in strict confidence. All enumerators and other persons connected with the census work under a drastic census oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes. He stated that under the census law it is a criminal offense to violate this confidence; that no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to other governmental state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would reveal any of the facts or figures in the returns. The census is the oldest bureau of the government, established nearly 150 years ago, and never has it been convicted of a violation of confidence.

He asked all business concerns to cooperate with the enumerators who call upon them for business census data.

Describing the value of census, Mr. Clifford said that from the results, banks and financial agencies are enabled to extend commercial credit more freely because of more accurate knowledge of what constitutes sound operating expenses and stock ratios; newspapers are enabled to establish the consumer market in their circulation fields; wholesalers are able to make a better appraisal of their immediate and potential trade territories and thus avoid unproductive expense; advertising agencies can determine comprehensive and accurate markets for various products; retailers are supplied with need data on their competitive situation, not only in their particular field but also regarding the extent of other kinds of competitive business. Real estate values, proper rentals and the basis for percentage leases are frequently determined from business census data, which have great weight because they are strictly factual statements without prejudice.

No Names Appear

As fast as reports are received they are sent to Philadelphia by registered mail, where they are carefully guarded. Five to eight tabulating cards are punched to record the information on each report, and no names or addresses appear on these cards. The cards are tabulated with other cards to produce the figures which are published and become the recognized basic statistics of business.

HOUSE PASSES BONUS BILL, 355 TO 58

ISSUE IS RUSHED TO SENATE FOR EARLY DECISION

ident; Veterans United

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(UP)—Overwhelming support swept the $3,500,000,000 United Front cash bonus bill to House passage today, just one week after convening of the second session of the 74th congress.

The vote was: yes, 355; no, 58. The measure now goes to the Senate where bonus leaders are racing with neutrality advocates in an effort to bring the issue to a vote before the end of next week.

If President Roosevelt vetoes the bill, repassage over the veto is expected by bonus adherents.

Amendment Beaten

The final vote came after supporters of the bill, which is intended to settle finally the bonus issue after 17 years of congressional strife, beat down efforts of tall, silver-haired Rep. Allen T. Treadway, R., Mass., to provide payment of the bonus from unexpended or unallocated emergency-relief appropriations.

Republicans and Democrats united as the Vinson-Patman-McCormack bill was shoved along to passage.

It was untouched and unchanged by amendments.

The bill carries an authorization for full and immediate cash payment of veterans' certificates. It does not specify how the money shall be raised to pay them. Proponents say the bill will require only $1,000,000,000 in additional cash outlay.

Patman Has Role

Inflationary forces took up the battle immediately to force payment through issuance of new currency against huge gold reserves now in the treasury. Rep. Wright Patman, D., Tex., one of the sponsors of the united front bill, is leading the currency expansion battle.

House leaders predicted there were sufficient votes to override a presidential veto if necessary. In the Senate, where the fight is closer, high leaders sought a new bill more likely of presidential signature.

OHIO HOUSE TO ASSAIL BUDGET

Fifth Attempt to End Squab- ble is Believed Doomed

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 10—(UP)—When the Ohio House of Representatives returns to work next Tuesday, it will consider a new appropriations bill, drafted by the Senate. It will be the fifth attempt to solve the budget problem.

The Senate late yesterday passed the Herner bill, calling for a biennial appropriation of $90,450,263, which is $1,532,600 over the amount left in the original budget bill after the governor's veto.

If, however, the appropriations made in special bills for retirement of the state debt and support of the industrial commission, and possible additional money for old age pensions and 1935 deficiencies are considered, the total appropriation for 1935-1936 would be $13,000,000 more than the original bill with its vetoes.

House leaders today predicted the senate bill would meet much opposition.

SEWER IS STARTED ON HALF-AVE BUT WATER IS MISSING

Installation of an eight-inch sanitary sewer on Half-ave from Clinton-t to Renick-ave will temporarily mean little to the residents.

None of the twelve residents on the street have city water. They have filed several petitions with council but no action has been taken, and officials of the water company reported no application for a line has been filed with their office. When a line is constructed, two fire hydrants must be included and maintained by the city.

HOFFMAN SEES AID FOR BRUNO

New Jersey Governor Says Handwriting New Clue

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 10—(UP)—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman revealed today that he has evidence that may weigh heavily in favor of Bruno Richard Hauptmann when the Lindbergh baby killer appears for mercy tomorrow to the State Court of Pardons.

The Governor announced that the court would convene in the state house, as customary, and would then decide whether to go to the state prison to permit Hauptmann to make a personal plea for clemency.

The governor has received a report from a New York handwriting expert tentatively connecting the author of a recent anonymous note asserting that Hauptmann is innocent, with J. T. Faulkner believed to have charged $2,980 in Lindbergh ransom bills a year before Hauptmann was arrested.

Hoffman received the note two weeks ago. Signed "J. T. Faulkner," it urged the Court of Pardons to grant Hauptmann clemency because, it said, he was innocent. The author hinted, without claiming a connection with the kidnapping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. He inferred that Hauptmann had purchased the ransom money as "hot" money. His fault, the letter said, was "money madness."

Supposedly working with Ellis Parker, detective who has interested himself in Hauptmann's case, Hoffman connected the note with J. T. Faulkner, who on May 1, 1933, turned in $2,980 worth of gold certificates to a New York bank. The signatures were similar.

WALLACE CALLS ON FARMERS TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Secretary of Agriculture Tells Soil Conservation Pro- gram Possible

SURPLUSES PREDICTED

F. D. R.'s Appointee Declares Emergency May Become Equal to That of 1933

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace today pointed a way toward replacement of the destroyed AAA through soil conservation and called upon farmers and the nation at large to bend their efforts toward solution of the problem.

Facing a hundred farm leaders summoned to the capital to aid in rebuilding the Roosevelt agriculture keystone, the secretary lashed "obstructionists" and indicated that the AAA solution may lie in production control through a soil conservation program.

Emergency Faced

Without an immediate control program, he said, the nation must expect a 16,000,000 bale cotton crop, (as compared to the 10,500,000 bushel quota) and a surplus of 50,000,000 bushels of corn. The normal corn production is around 2,500,000,000 bushels.

A hint of future plans came as Wallace warned the farmers that they faced an emergency equal to that of 1933.

At the same time, he urged that any program they might agree on would take into consideration "full protection to consumers" and "long time conservation of our soil."

"I hope," he said, "that all programs proposed by this conference recognize both the welfare of the consumer and the long time conservation of our soil."

The Governor announced that the court would convene in the state house, as customary, and would then decide whether to go to the state prison to permit Hauptmann to make a personal plea for clemency.

HOUSE TO FIGHT ORDER TO OUST SLOT MACHINES

Former County Man Files In- junction Action Against Washington Officials

WASHINGTON C. H., Jan. 10—Dr. O. W. House of this city, formerly of Williamsport, has filed an injunction proceeding against City Manager Gilbert H. Sollars and Police Chief Jack Wolfe to prevent removal of the machines.

The officials charge the machines are gambling devices and Manager Sollars has ordered them removed. Today is the deadline for their removal.

Dr. House is owner of a string of ball slot machines.

Former Mayor George H. Worrell announced today that a few years ago he had been offered $700 for permission to operate slot machines.

Circleville and Pickaway-co have been without slot machines for several years after action by Sheriff Charles Radcliff supported by Judge Joseph W. Adkins in decreeing their removal.

When they were not removed the sheriff and his deputies confiscated a number of them. They remain intact in a county jail cell.

It has been learned that Sheriff Radcliff was approached within the last week by a "representative" of a slot machine owner who asked his attitude on their return. The sheriff's response was a firm negative.

Chillicothe's new mayor, James E. Ford, has ordered all machines out of his city.

ST SHATTERS VILLAGE HALL, FOUR UNKNOWN VICTIMS

Pendleton, Ind. Scene; Escaping Sewer Gas Blamed for Fatal Explosion

PENDLETON, Ind., Jan. 10—(UP)—With four bodies recovered, police and firemen dug in the ruins of the Pendleton village hall today for additional victims of the explosion which destroyed the two-story brick building.

The explosion occurred last night just after the town started its first meeting of the year. Five members of the board and Garland Brookbank, the town marshal, were among those injured.

Escaping sewer gas in a cistern beneath the hall was believed responsible for the blast. Irvin Taylor, Pendleton toolmaker, was reported to have dropped his eyeglasses through a crack in the floor and in searching for them lighted a match. The explosion followed.

Trusty Among Victims

First victim identified was Frank Wapienik, a trusty from the state reformatory here, who was waiting to drive officials back to the reformatory. Another victim was identified tentatively as Taylor. The man who dropped his glasses. The others were believed to be transients who were given shelter for the night in the hall.

The building housed all departments of the village government, including police and fire departments. The fire engine was in flames when members of the volunteer department reached the scene.

Three fire companies and ambulances rushed here from Anderson, eight miles away. The injured were taken to an Anderson hospital. Among them were Frank Silvers, president of the board; William Longtoft, Fred Lutz, Arlie Hensley and George Calvert, all members of the board; J. N. Walker, village clerk, and Everett Bratton, a farmer.

BELIEF MEASURE READY FOR VOTE

State Senate Expected to Put Through Bill Friday

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—The Senate met today to put through a permanent poor relief bill which, leaders said probably will be the one that both houses will approve and send to the governor.

The Senate bill, threshed out in joint caucus of Democratic and Republican members, will incorporate the desirable features of both the House measure which passed yesterday and the tentative Senate bill which had been in committee pending house action.

Senator Paul P. Yoder, majority floor leader, stressed the need for speedy action as many of the larger counties will have exhausted their poor relief funds and will be looking to the state for aid in the next few weeks.

Controversial points still to be ironed out are:

1. Shall distribution be made on the basis of actual need, or on the basis of a budgeted formula.

2. Shall the program be for six months or a year?

5. What shall the total amount of the relief appropriations be? Under the bill the county commissioners would be authorities in the handling of relief.

NEW REFERENCE BOOK PRESENTED TO LIBRARY

This edition, the first to be owned by the library, has been thoroughly revised from the 1934 and 1935 publication, and enlarged by two thousand additional biographical sketches. While arranged in dictionary form, it is additionally useful through its system of indexes, including a complete geographical index, under state, city, and foreign residence of the notables listed. The register of the American Catholic Hierarchy and national organizations will prove useful.

The library is indebted to its good friend, Robert M. Anderson, of Guilford Road, for the gift of this volume, as well as for other evidences of his interest, which have been received from time to time.

FARLEY'S PLANS FOR CONVENTION ARE GIVEN JOLT

F. D. R.'s Campaign Chief Wished Session in West; Philadelphia is Picked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(UP)—Democratic political leaders reshaped campaign plans today to hold next June's nominating convention in the east instead of the farm belt.

Philadelphia won the convention auction with a certified check prizes to delegates and the offer of free use of the municipal auditorium. The Democrats meet June 23. The Republican National convention will meet in Cleveland, June 9.

Farm belt New Dealers who had expected to profit locally by having the convention excitement close to home town voters must look now to some other political stimulant, if any is needed. Eastern Democrats, especially the re-born Democracy of Pennsylvania, have gained an unexpected advantage in the 1936 polling.

Farley Plans Upset

Decision to nominate President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner on the Atlantic seaboard instead of on the prairies upset plans of Chairman James A. Farley to put on the quadrennial Democratic political "carnival" in the farm country.

The choice then looked like Chicago where a jacket of $300,000 had been raised—half as a bid for the Republican convention and the remainder to tempt the Democrats. Twelve hours before the national committee met at hotel headquarters here Farley and other leaders believed Chicago was a certain selection. National committee Patrick Nash was confident he had pledged votes to return the Democrats to the scene of their good luck meeting of 1932.

A mid-western convention next June would have offered spectacular opportunity for a "dirt farmer demonstration" in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt and his outlawed agricultural policies. Whether any such maneuver was planned if the convention went to the prairies is not known but it could easily have been arranged with undoubtedly strong political effect.

TO DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

GENTLEMEN: I believe it is about time for the Pickaway-co Democratic organization to arise from its haunches, get to work, and show the large following of the "rooster" that an organization really exists. The time for "watching" what is going on is past. The time for activity is not just before an election, but the year around. The time for action is right now, unless you no longer care what happens in the county and in the nation. Pickaway-co has long been a Democratic stronghold. Every candidate who has opposed the party has done so against odds. Some have won, but many more have been defeated. Pickaway-co should, by all means, have sponsored a Jackson day banquet with the splendid address of the President to be the feature of the evening. Maybe the lack of activity is because the persons who should act are waiting for someone else to carry the burden. If this is true those individuals should step aside and make way for those who will go ahead. Appointment or election to a party committee does not mean the individual should stop working.

That is the time to start working. I urge the county's able organizers and committee-men to get to work. And NOW!!!

CIRCUITEER

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

DEAR SIRS: Are there any politics connected with two old elm stumps? Broad-minded autoists have urged the removal of the twin elms at South Bloomfield, in the center of Route 23, for years and no action has been taken. If you expect to remove them why not do it before we have more slippery weather and more deaths and accidents are caused by those two stumps. They lost their beauty long ago and have no historical value. County residents see no reason for them remaining in one of the busiest highways in the nation.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

One gets new reactions talking with people and observing conditions while traveling.

Take the brakeman on the train traveling from Arkansas and southern Missouri into St. Louis.

He's for Roosevelt through and through. He's for the NRA, the AAA, and every one of the alphabets except relief. There, he believes, something else must be done. Young fellows are drawing relief money who oughtn't. He believes in large pensions for the aged—not the laughable kind provided in the present security bill. He even believes the Townsend plan might work—but he finds a hitch to it. You couldn't force the recipient of the $200 a month to spend it, because there'd be no way of checking up. Some of them might bury the money. Thus, maybe there'd better be another pension plan.

As for Mr. Roosevelt—he's done his best (he said he'd make mistakes) and those who are trying to turn the people against him are doing so for a reason. Just ask workers and farmers, and if they know nothing will happen to them if they tell you how they're going to vote, they'll tell you they're for Mr. Roosevelt. And there'll have to be something again to regulate hours and wages—especially of women and children.

HOME TOWN PRAISE

There is this editorial, copied from a paper in Little Rock, Ark., home town of Senator T. Robinson, majority leader in the senate. This editorial has been ruled unconstitutional by the highest tribunal of the land, the Supreme Court, and when that body has spoken there is nothing left to say. But there is something you can do. Retain your good business sense; concentrate on ways and means of making ends meet without assistance of a bounty; study your problems and how best to meet them. Many of you expressed grief because of the decision against the A. A. A., but the action only served to put you more on your own resources. You do not want, and neither do I, a situation again similar to that existing in 1930, 1931 and other such years. It is up to you to do your best.

TO SCHOOL GRADUATES

SPORTS FANS: Why not attend the high school basketball games and boost your team? Circleville has a good team and a good coach. It is your DUTY to boost your athletic teams whether they are good or bad, but Circleville does not seem to have the spirit that prevails at other schools. Last week at the Ashville-Circleville game the smaller town had a much larger percentage of its rooters present than did Circleville. This week the Tigers play Delaware. Plan to attend the game. Make your team feel more like playing.

GENTLEMEN: Months ago you were asked to furnish a new auto for the police department to replace the worn out one now in use. The request was referred to a committee, and apparently forgotten. You expect quick and efficient work from the department and at the same time put on the brakes by refusing to give the officers an auto that will run properly. On several occasions it has refused to move. Fortunately, no calls were received at those times. Start the new administration off on the right foot, purchase a new car and have a radio installed in it for state patrol broadcasts.

CIRCUITEER

COUNTY SPORTSMEN

GENTLEMEN: The recent order sent to Missouri by the Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association for 300 rabbits for distribution in this county, should encourage sportsmen to purchase their 1936 hunting and fishing licenses from club members. The members turn all fees received into the club treasury for the purchase of game and fish for restocking purposes. The club's program deserves the support of every county resident.

CIRCUITEER

SALT CREEK GRANGE

GLEANERS: You deserve high praise for the manner in which your grange has progressed in the last year. I have been informed that a year ago at this time you were an organization of 16 persons, and during the year you have worked hard to raise your enrollment to 60. This is worthy of note, and I am sure you will be praised by your state organization and by other granges in the county.

CIRCUITEER

PROSPERITY

Last, but not least, we see on our journey a rebirth of another evidence of the old prosperity. A group of furniture dealers boards the train—and takes possession of the train.

Aided by a girl or two, the men proceed to get gloriously drunk. The stories they tell are not fit for ears of decent women, who, nevertheless, have to sit in the cars and be insulted.

And the porters, being sevants have to serve these yelling men—their superiors—under a torrent of epithets.

At midnight, the weary porters, who must watch their step or be reported for insolence, have to put the yelling businessmen to bed, taking fond care of them.

The men have been free with their money and the railroads welcome their business. They merely are some of the better citizens on their way to a buyers' convention.

"He has proved his worth. He has been wrong, but he has been right more times than wrong. He has worked faithfully, not only for Arkansas, but for the nation. The least the central committee of Arkansas counties could do would be to endorse him for the office again and save him the tiresome, exhaustive effects of a statewide campaign."

"That is not fulsome praise, but a statement of both sides."

MURDER UPSTAIRS

by ADAM BLISS

CHAPTER 47

AFTER WHAT Hemingway had done to Janet Bell, I had no compassion for him at all. He deserved all he got. If he had murdered Mr. Darien, his denouncement of Janet became clearer to me. Anything to divert suspicion from himself. Yet he should kill Delia who loved him—unless he was a killer type, unless she knew something about him and hadn't told—because she loved him.

Anything to take the chase away from Lucy away from Mrs. Starrett, away from Janet. I left the trunk room worried about all of them, but satisfied with what I was going to tell Kirk Larrabee.

Marcella Cambridge waylaid me as I was coming downstairs. There was nothing to do but to stop and talk with her. I know what she had to say and I listened as patiently as I could. A good deal about missing school, the shame and disgrace that had been brought on the house.

In all her chatter there was an undercurrent of excitement. Miss Cambridge was taking the tragedies which Lucy was telling them. So little had happened in both their lives that now they felt for the first time they were in the midst of things. They were enjoying the tragedies although neither of them would admit it.

Miss Cambridge's face was flushed. Her lips had a little color in them. Although it wasn't a holiday or Sunday, she had on her best new print dress.

Even with the confusion last night she must have put up her hair in curlers, because the gray locks were waved in the front. However, Miss Cambridge, even if the world was failing about her ears, wouldn't forget to put her hair up in curlers.

"Janet's been acting very strangely, Mrs. Penny." I pretended surprise. It is a funny thing that in the seven years Miss Cambridge has been my boarder we never have called each other anything but Miss Cambridge and Mrs. Penny. We are invariably rather formal with each other, even when we gossip.

"She's been staying in her room so much," Miss Cambridge went on. "And she won't talk. I've tried to draw her out, to find out what's on her mind, but I can't get anywhere with her. She almost snubbed me a while ago, and I meant well, I assure you. I was trying to help the girl. She needn't have taken my sympathy for mere curiosity. She knows something about all this, Mrs. Penny. You mark my words, she knows something."

"She did, I thought to myself. But Miss Cambridge, I was pleased to note, didn't know that Janet had been in Mr. Darien's room Monday night. Janet didn't know that Janet had

"It's best, Miss Cambridge."

Yet, she wasn't as indignant as I had expected her to be. Lucy was the one who was angry, and I would have expected Lucy to be comical. Miss Cambridge had a smile on her lips. True, it was tinged with sarcasm, but it was a smile.

"What are you doing in the kitchen for knives, Mrs. Penny?"

"We're asking, too."

"The police haven't returned the two carving knives, have they? How do you manage without them?"

"We're managing," I answered, shortly, hoping to break away. But she was standing in front of me on the third floor front stairs, and I couldn't get past her.

"Confidentially, Mrs. Penny, who do you think committed these murders? You must have some idea. Her voice was a whisper. "I see you talking to Lieutenant Larrabee constantly. Mrs. Upham says she's hardly had a word with you since that man has been in the house."

"I really don't know. I'm as much in the dark as you are."

Another smile from Miss Cambridge.

"Oh, I'm not in the dark, Mrs. Penny. Far from it. I've eyes and

10 COMES OFF LEAGUE SEASON TONIGHT AT CAC

Tigers Tangle With Delaware
Willis High; All County
Teams in Action

The lid comes off the Central Buckeye league cage season this evening at about 8:30 o'clock when the warriors representing Circleville high school and a fast Delaware team meet in the C. A. C. gymnasium. The Tigers will be decidedly crippled with neither Jenkins nor Styers expected to play.

Other games on tonight's schedule are:

CBS League
Marysville vs. Bexley.
Grandview vs. Westerville.
County League
Pickaway at Muhlenberg.
New Holland at Saltcreek.
Walnut at Ashville.
Deer Creek at Washington.
Perry at Scioto.
Darby at Monroe.

Non-County
Jackson at Kingston.
The Tiger-Delaware game appears a toss-up with both schools having about the same strength on paper. The local crew has been weakened by illness of Styers and a foot infection suffered by Jenkins. Melson is expected to move up to forward, Griffith will go to center. Henry and Freiley will be at the guards.

Veterans on the Willis high crew include Whetsel at center, Moeller at forward, and Vergone at guard. Other members of the first team are Kugler at forward, and either Perry or Vandervort at the other guard.

Delaware has lost two games, falling before Columbus, North and Marion Hardins, both mighty good teams.

The evening's festivities begin at 6:45 when the freshmen and eighth grade play. The reserve teams of the two schools meet immediately after the first preliminary.

Probable varsity lineups:
Tigers Delaware
Andrews f Moeller
Melson f Kissner
Griffith c Wetsel
Henry g Vergon
Freiley g Perry
Referee: Pearce, Ohio Wesleyan.

WATTS DECLINES POST AT TOLEDO UNIVERSITY

BEREA, Jan. 10—(UP)—Ray Watts, athletic director and head football and basketball coach at Baldwin-Wallace college since 1928, today did an "about face" and announced he had rejected an offer to take over the athletic coaching reins at the University of Toledo and would remain here.

In his eight seasons at Baldwin-Wallace, Watts has never had a contract with the school. However, it was understood an agreement was reached whereby he would be retained for five years.

The trustees at Toledo selected Watts a week ago and although he did not sign a contract immediately it was generally believed the terms of the offer were satisfactory and that the former Oberlin college star would go to Toledo in time to take charge of spring practice.

After he considered the Toledo offer, Watts asked for a contract for more than one year, the original offer. It was not forthcoming and negotiations for his retention at Baldwin-Wallace were made.

"The Toledo offer was quite tempting," Watts said, "but I am very glad to remain at Baldwin-Wallace where I have so many friends."

Watts declined to discuss a reported salary increase. He said "a satisfactory arrangement" was made.

The coaching position at Toledo was vacated at the close of the past season by Jim Nicholson.

HEADS COMMISSION

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10—(UP)—Tri Spears, who as a member of the Cleveland Indians became one of the greatest outfields in major league baseball history, today was named chairman of the Cleveland boxing commission by Mayor Harold H. Burton.

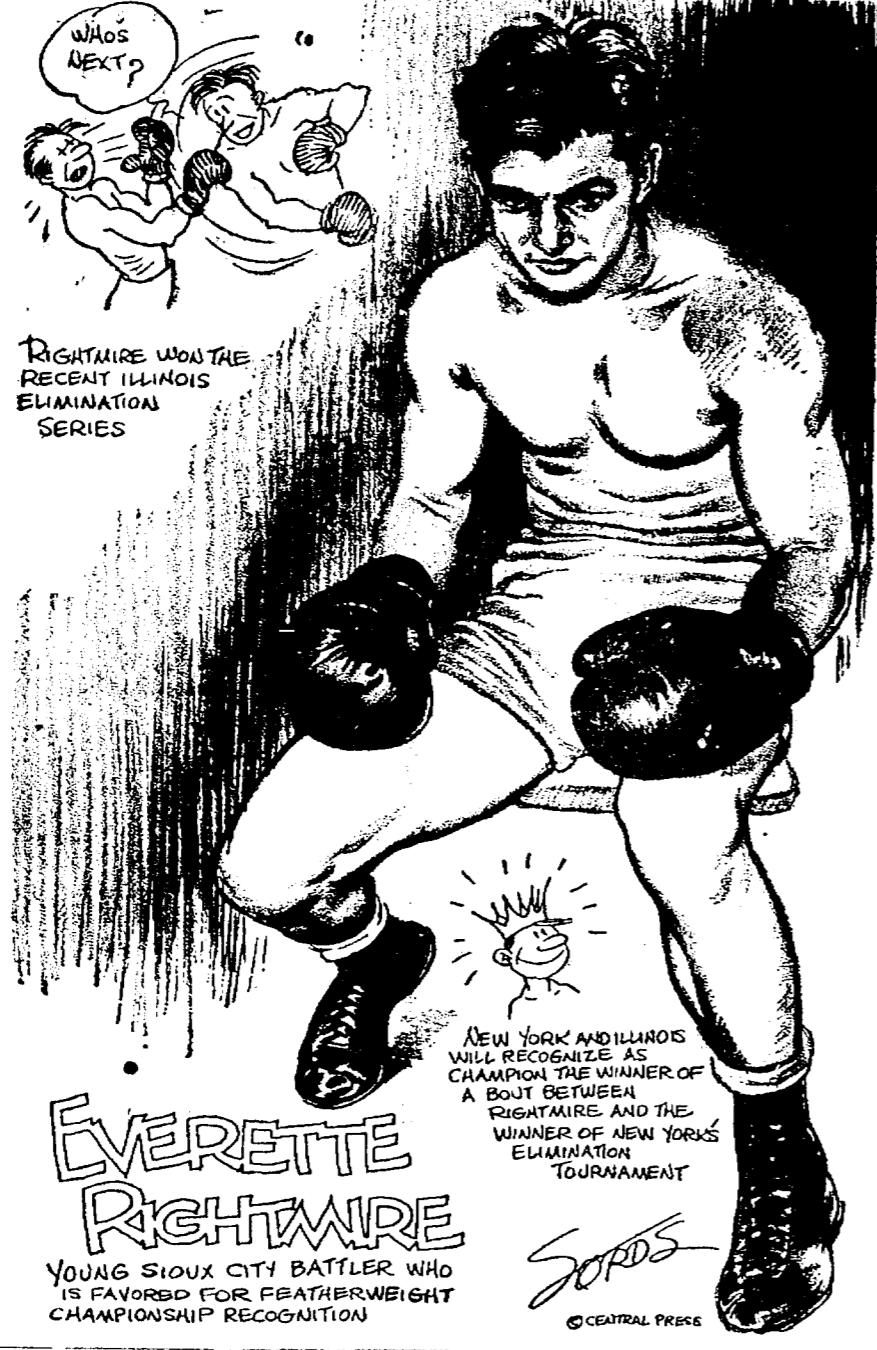

STANFORD VS. DARTMOUTH

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Jan. 10—(UP)—Stanford university officials today announced their approval of a proposal for football games in 1937 and 1938 with Dartmouth college of New Hampshire.

Definite arrangements have not been completed, however, as Stanford's 1937 schedule will not be drawn until the Pacific Coast Conference meeting next December.

All-American Fullback Files Notice in Courthouse, Going First to Divorce Counter; Beedle, Tackle, Becomes Berserk

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Jan. 10—(UP)—Two members of Stanford University's football team, victors in the Rose game Jan. 1, crashed newspaper columns today for entirely different reasons.

In Honolulu Bobby Grayson, Portland, Ore. youth whose work at fullback won him all-American mention two years, appeared at the city hall to file notice of intention to wed Christine Williams, Stanford co-ed whose home is in the Hawaiian capital.

Somewhat unfamiliar with his surroundings Grayson appeared first at the divorce clerk's counter to fill his notice.

The wedding will take place Jan. 18 with ten of his Stanford teammates in attendance. They are in Honolulu as members of Glenn (Pop) Warner's all-stars who will play two games against Hawaiian teams.

Under less happy conditions Dale Beedle, 20, right tackle, was under observation at Agnews State hospital after running berserk on a Southern Pacific train on his way from Los Angeles to Palo Alto.

Dr. E. W. Mullins, hospital superintendent, said the youth was suffering from a "complete nervous breakdown."

"He was here with one before (in the spring of 1934) and it was my opinion that this condition would not recur," Dr. Mullins said. "He has been suffering either from exhaustion, nervous strain, worry or excitement. I believe the excitement of the Rose Bowl game proved too much for him."

FAST CONFERENCE FIVE IN ACTION THIS EVENING

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(UP)—Ohio conference teams dominate tonight's state basketball schedule when five contest feature league quintets will be played.

The headlining game is at Alliance and pits the University of Akron against Mount Union.

After an unexpected defeat at the hands of Findlay and a setback in a game with the University of Michigan, Mount Union has struck the stride expected of it and in its last two games has turned in handy victories over Ohio University and Case.

Mount Union is still in the thick of the conference race and rates as the favorite over Akron. Akron has lost the only two games played to date. The first defeat was in a contest with the University of Detroit and the second at the University of Toledo.

The secondary feature is Marietta's game with Case at Cleveland. Marietta turned in one of the season's biggest upsets in its last contest when it defeated the powerful West Virginia university team.

Case has won two games, both from John Carroll. It was beaten by Carnegie Tech and Mount Union.

Other conference games find Bowling Green facing Otterbein at Westerville; Wooster opposing Wittenberg at Springfield and Ashland playing Ohio Northern at Ada.

BUCKEYES TRAVELING

COLUMBUS, Jan. 10—(UP)—Ohio state's basketball team left today for Iowa City where it will meet the University of Iowa in a Big Ten contest tomorrow night.

The game is the first of two the Bucks will play on the road trip.

Monday Coach Harold Olsen's quintet will meet Illinois at Urbana.

About This And That In Many Sports

Aiken Promoted?

Appointment of Jimmy Aiken, Canton McKinley mentor, as head coach of Akron university, isn't much of a promotion, in our way of thinking—At Canton, city of about 110,000, Aiken had things his own way—He received a large salary, probably higher than any other high school coach in the state—His football and basketball teams were outstanding, but the fact that Massillon defeated his grididers last fall might have spurred Aiken to take the college job—The mentor, grad of W. & J., has coached high school teams for 14 years in Washington, Pa., Findlay, Toledo Scott before going to Canton * * *

No Breaks Possible

We're wondering just when Coach Jack Landrum will receive a break—About every time his cagers go on the floor someone is in no physical condition to do his best—At Chillicothe Jenkins was not in uniform; against Ashville Styers watched the game, and tonight against Delaware both sterling cagers will be on the sidelines * * *

Reds Are Ramblers

When General Manager Larry McPhail signed a contract for the Cincinnati Reds to open their spring baseball training season at San Juan, Puerto Rico, he made it certain that Red players would be among the most widely traveled in major league history * * * The team will cover approximately 6,000 miles during the training period * * *

Wooster Star Active

Wally Creighton, veteran breast stroke swimmer of Wooster college, has never been beaten in intercollegiate competition. Wooster is one of the state's swimming leaders and has scheduled 11 dual meets for the present season.

Zontini On Ambulance

John Zontini, former Marshall college star and one of the finest all-around athletes in recent Buckeye conference history, is now an ambulance driver at Whitesville, W. Va. Zontini played baseball with Charleston in the Mid-Atlantic league last season and is expected to return this spring. Charleston is a farm of the Detroit Tigers.

Opportunity Vanishes

Southern basketball fans lost an opportunity of seeing one of the most colorful teams in Ohio scholastic history, when a game between the Waterloo Wonders, class "B" champions in 1934 and 1935, and the niversity of Kentucky freshmen was cancelled because of the expense of taking the Wonders to Lexington, Ky. * * *

The game was to have been played as a benefit for Herbie Tade, University of Tennessee football star, who suffered a fractured skull in the Kentucky-Tennessee game Thanksgiving Day.

BUSINESS CENSUS TO START SATURDAY IN COUNTY

WORKERS UNDER OATH AGAINST REVEALING DATA

Value of Obtaining Information Related By R. M. Clifford, Supervisor

Pickaway county's four business census enumerators, Howard Anderson, Rt. 1, Francis Tolbert, Atlanta, A. J. Ford and Willard Stonerock, both of Circleville will begin their work Saturday.

The group will present census forms to business houses and later help them fill out the necessary information, according to an announcement from R. M. Clifford, supervisor of the work in the 11th Congressional district.

Information Secret ..

Mr. Clifford stressed the fact that information given enumerators will be held in strict confidence. All enumerators and other persons connected with the census work under a drastic census oath not to disclose or discuss any information submitted for census purposes.

He stated that under the census law it is a criminal offense to violate this confidence; that no access to individual reports is permitted, not even to other governmental state or local agencies, and no information will be disclosed which would reveal any of the facts or figures in the returns.

The census is the oldest bureau of the government, established nearly 150 years ago, and never has it been convicted of a violation of confidence.

He asked all business concerns to cooperate with the enumerators who call upon them for business census data.

Describing the value of Census, Mr. Clifford said that from the results, banks and financial agencies are enabled to extend commercial credit more freely because of more accurate knowledge of what constitutes sound operating expenses and stock ratios; newspapers are enabled to establish the consumer market in their circulation fields; wholesalers are able to make a better appraisal of their immediate and potential trade territories and thus avoid unproductive expense; advertising agencies can determine comprehensive and accurate markets for various products; retailers are supplied with need data on their competitive situation, not only in their particular field but also regarding the extent of other kinds of competitive business. Real estate values, proper rentals and the basis for percentage leases are frequently determined from business census data, which have great weight because they are strictly factual statements without prejudice.

No Names Appear

As fast as reports are received they are sent to Philadelphia by registered mail, where they are carefully guarded. Five to eight tabulating cards are punched to record the information on each report, and no names or addresses appear on these cards. The cards are tabulated with other cards to produce the figures which are published and become the recognized basic statistics of business.

FUNERAL FOR STAR OF SCREEN IS SATURDAY

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10—(UP) The body of John Gilbert lay on a mortuary slab today while the world mourned the death of one of the last of the silent screen's great matinee idols.

For Gilbert the "Big Parade" was over. His friends will bid the happy-go-lucky of "The Big Parade" a final farewell at private funeral services tomorrow morning.

Gilbert, the "Prince Charming" to millions of women who worshipped him for his romantic screen roles, died with only a nurse at his side, although he had courted and married four women.

House action was in the face of warning from Chairman Hatton W. Summers, D., Tex., of the House judiciary committee, Rep.

James W. Wadsworth, R., N. Y., and Rep. Robert Rich, R., Pa.,

that passage of the bonus now might impair the nation's financial structure.

The bill is sponsored by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—(UP) The mechanics of the Veterans' United Front bonus bill are perhaps the simplest of any similar measure ever before congress.

Here is how it works:

1. A veteran surrenders his certificate to the administrator of veterans affairs for payment immediately.

2. The treasury would issue a 10-year 3 per cent bond issue in exchange for $500,000,000 in certificates held by the United States government insurance fund against loans.

3. If a veteran does not choose to surrender his certificates immediately, he would receive three per cent annually as interest beginning April 6, 1937 until Jan. 1, 1945.

4. If the veteran dies after making application, payment would be made to his beneficiary.
